Dividend forecasts may be used for some New Zealand and Australian shares. It is assumed that securities that mature during the period will be placed on call, at the prevailing cash management rate. The estimate is provided as a guide to future dividend and income flows based on the holdings as at report date and should not be interpreted as an accurate forecast of future dividend flows.

Holdings are grouped into two types:

Supervised Assets

Those holdings fully monitored by Craigs Investment Partners.

Unsupervised Assets

Those holdings included as part of the portfolio, for reference only, but not monitored by Craigs Investment Partners.

Time Weighted Returns

The Time Weighted Rate of Return Report provides a summary of the movements in the portfolio and derives a return for the portfolio suitable for comparing with benchmarks. Time Weighted Returns (TWRs) measure the compound rate of return for a portfolio over a given period and are used to measure the growth of an investment portfolio, calculated on a time weighted basis rather than a money weighted basis. TWRs are compared to the performance of a benchmark, such as market indices or to the performance of other funds to show whether the portfolio is out-performing or underperforming the alternative, based on the investments made rather than the timing of the investments.

Capital Value

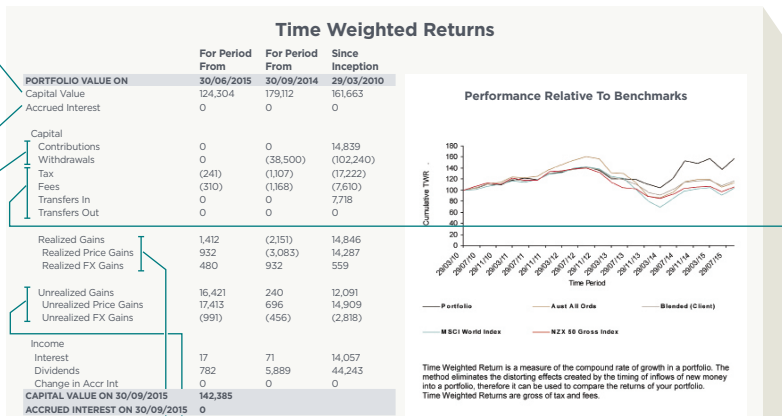

The value of the portfolio at the start of the reporting period. This will be the same as the capital value at the close of the previous reporting period.

Accrued Interest

The interest accrued on all holdings at the start of the reporting period.

Realised Price Gains are calculated as the movement in price between the purchase price for a holding and the price that the holding was sold at. The purchase price will be an average purchase price where the holding is made up of more than one purchase.

Realised FX Gains

The report currency value of all Realised FX Gains in the period. Realised FX Gains are calculated as the movement in exchange rate between the exchange rate for the purchase date of the holding and the exchange rate at the date the holding was sold. The purchase date exchange rate will be an average exchange rate where the holding is made up of more than one purchase.

Market Value (incl AI)

The market value is calculated by multiplying the quantity of a security held in your portfolio by the Price Local. This is converted into report currency, using the exchange rate effective on the reporting date. For Interest Bearing Instruments the market value includes the 'Accrued Interest' from the last coupon payment date to report date.

Accrued Interest

The interest accrued from the last coupon payment date to the reporting date.

Quantity

The total holding at reporting date.

Unit Cost Local

*Local currency represents the currency that the security has been issued in.

Price Local

The market price per unit, as at close of business on the date of this report - in the local currency.

Total Cost (Capital)

The total cost of the holding including brokerage in report currency. The exchange rate recorded for each transaction is used to derive the cost in report currency.

Subtotals and Totals

Subtotals are included for Total Cost, Market Value, Unrealised Gain/Loss, Percentage Assets% and Accrued Interest for each Asset Sector and Country of Risk within an Asset Sector. Holdings are also totalled by Supervised Assets or Unsupervised Assets and Total Portfolio.

Percentage Assets %

The percentage of the portfolio that each holding represents calculated by dividing the Market Value of each holding by the Market Value of the Total Portfolio.

Unrealised Gain/Loss

The unrealised gain/loss for each holding calculated as the difference between the Total Cost and Market Value (excluding Accrued interest) in reporting currency. Numbers in () brackets represent an unrealised loss.

- This projection is provided as a guide to future dividend flows and should not be interpreted as an accurate forecast of future dividend flows.
 - Income presented in the table is generally based on forecast dividends for securities covered by Craigs Investment Partners Research.
 - For other securities, income is generally based on gross historical dividends for the last 12 months, which may include special dividends of a one-off nature.

Income is generally based on gross historical dividends for the previous 12 months and may include special dividends that are of a one-off nature. Dividend forecasts may be used for some New Zealand and Australian shares. It is assumed that securities that mature or have a re-set date during the period will be placed on call at the prevailing cash management rate. The timing of equal regular instalments is based on the first payment date, if this is recorded, or the maturity date. Equity distributions made more than once in a year are assumed to be paid in equal instalments at regular intervals based on the last payment date.

The estimate is provided as a guide to future dividend and income flows based on the holdings as at report date and should not be interpreted as an accurate forecast of future dividend flows.

Holdings are reported in the same order as on the Statement of Holdings Report.

Annual Income is a total estimated income for each holding.

Totals are included for Total Portfolio for the estimated income for each month and Annual Income. The Forecast Gross Monthly Income Report provides the detail for the Estimated Annual Income reported on the Income Forecast (Gross) on the Portfolio Summary Report.

It incorporates adjustments that may be needed by some New Zealand taxpayers, depending on their individual circumstances.

Gross Amount

In contrast to the Income Schedule, the gross amount in this report excludes Franking Credits and UK-ACT. These amounts form the basis of income for NZ tax returns.

Tax Paid/Excluded Income

This income is not usually included in NZ tax returns.

- Note 1: Foreign Tax Credits – Australian Franking Credits and UK Advance Corporation Tax will not normally be available to NZ tax residents and have been excluded from this report.
- Note 2: PIE Excluded Distribution – PIE excluded income should not be included in NZ tax returns.
- Note 3: PIE Imputed Distribution – For individuals (including Family Trusts) PIE imputed distributions do not need to be included in tax returns, but can be included if the marginal tax rate of the income recipient is less than 30%. Zero-rated persons, and persons who have declared a PIR tax rate that is too low must include this PIE income in their return.
- Note 4: Global CV only – Global CV only is a tax methodology that was created for securities that are specifically treated on a CV basis rather than FDR. These securities are determined by the IRD and at the moment include securities with a fixed rate of interest or that have foreign exposures with nz fx contracts. These stocks are included in the de minimus calculation. Securities listed here should have the CV figure for these stocks included, rather than the interest coupon payments.
- Note 5: FIF Investments – If you are a 'natural person' and your global share portfolio cost exceeds $50,000 at any stage during the year then the FIF rules apply to you. Family Trusts and other entities are taxed under the FIF rules irrespective of the cost of their global share portfolio. The figures calculated assume that the only global assets held by the taxpayer were held in Custodial Services Ltd for the entire financial year. If this is not the case, you will need to combine the information in these reports with information from other sources to determine the correct FIF figures.
- Note 6: Financial Arrangements – For taxpayers who report on a "cash basis", interest received from these plus income from "cash" securities should be reported as NZ interest income. Some entities (like Family Trusts) are required to report interest income from NZ Fixed Interest instruments on an accruals basis. In addition to the cash receipts, these taxpayers must additionally include purchased, sold and changes in accrued interest as interest income.
- Note 7: Non-NZ WT (tax credit in IR terminology) can be claimed up to the amount of NZ income tax payable on the FIF income associated with the attributing interest that has paid the dividend.
- Note 8: Assume client is an individual or family trust. If another entity please refer to FDR Summary for correct figure.
